If a man does not keep pace with his companion, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer . . .

BLESS THE BEAST AND THE CHILDREN

Homeward Bound . . . ?

I Gotta Get Out Of This Place!?!?!

“The man that hath no music in himself . . .

Is fit for treason, stratagens,
and spoils.”

5 Will Get You 10 You Can't Make A Uey.

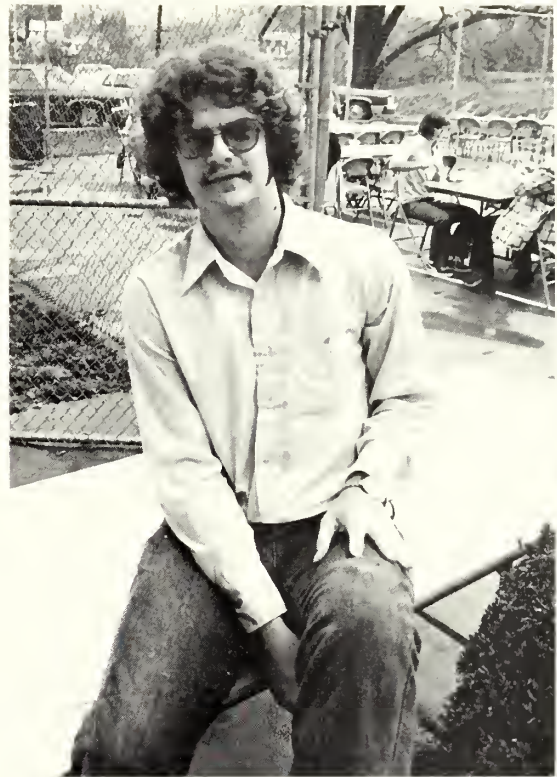

Ok Boys, Try To Keep It Clean.

Our Trouble Is, We Start Off Slow And Taper Off

Opps, Excuse me, Do you have a match?!

Homecoming '76

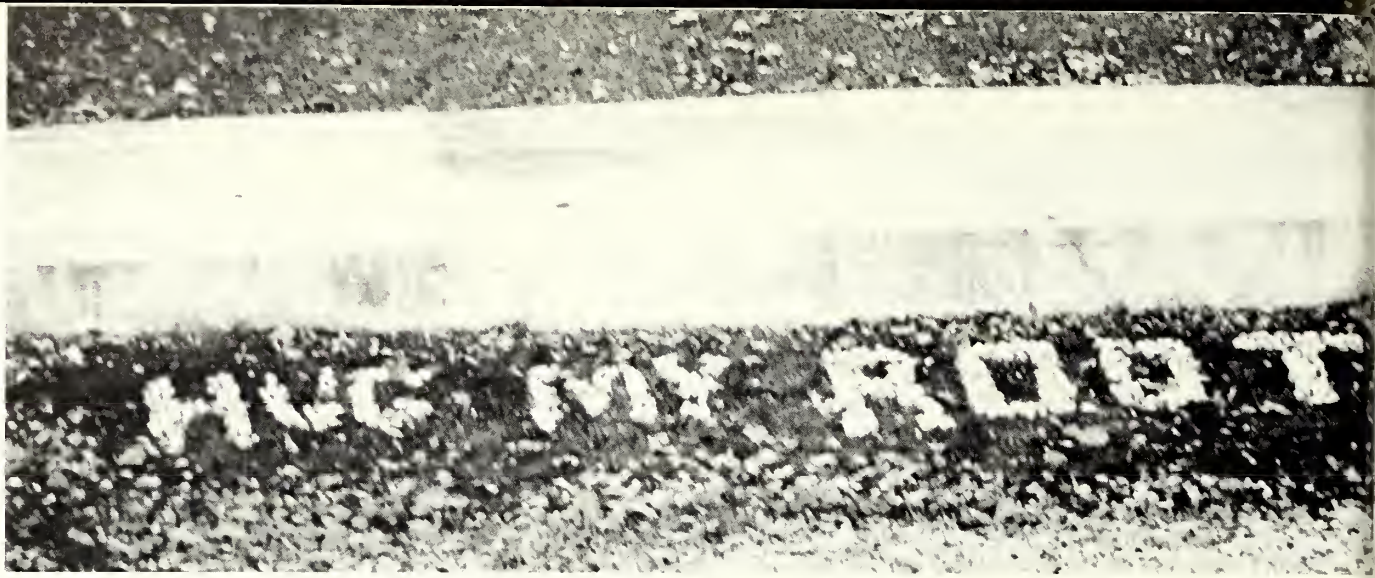

Dr. Sara Cree returns to participate in the ceremony naming the P. E. building in her honor.

The lovely, 1976 Homecoming Queen.

REGISTRATION

If that class is closed, I'll be on a 6-year program!

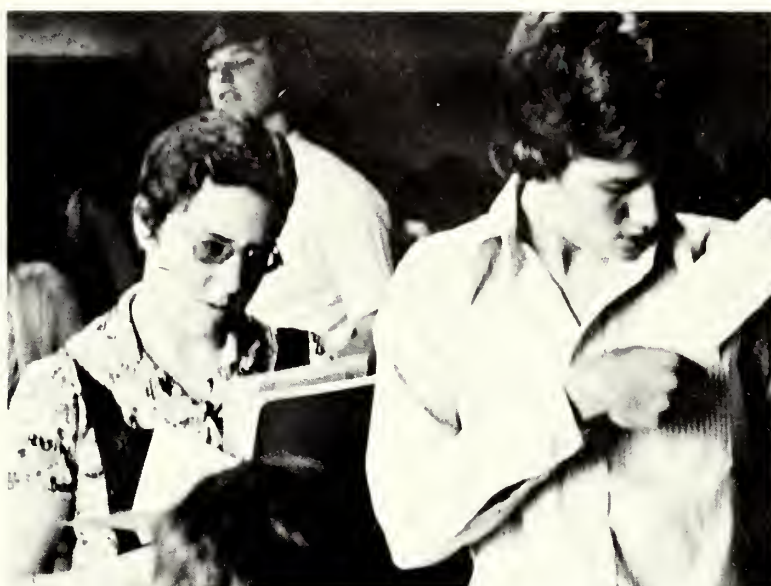

Ummm, Oh Lord, I hope he gets the right card this time!

I told you we had to fake these frickin' ID's AGAIN!

You just gave him a card, why can't I have one too?

Oh -- look at that line, I'll never get in it!

It's Great To Go Home For Christmas Break!

Student Senate Faces Several Dilemmas

On Wednesday, Dec. 3, 1975, President Marie Ballas presented her resignation to the Senate. After the text of her resignation was read the Senate was left stunned, but only for a few seconds. Upon its recovery from the totally unexpected shock the Senate gave Marie Ballas an unanimous vote of confidence. They refused to accept her resignation and instead asked Marie to stay on and try to work out the problems that existed between her and some undisclosed member (or members), on the Executive Board. She had stated in her resignation that the lack of cooperation and an unified Executive Board kept her from being able to remain as the Student Senate President. After the vote she agreed to continue if the problems could be worked out, and did finish out the year as President.

Six weeks later on Jan. 7, 1976, (after Christmas vacation), Vice President Joe Slater tendered his resignation. He cited as the reason for his resignation the problem between himself and Senate President Marie Ballas: "(their) latent inability to cooperate and share mutual goals."

Barry Mullane became the new Vice President after Joe's resignation. He served out the rest of the term, almost a full semester in length.

Student Nurses Association

WANTED:

One energetic, cheerful, hard-working, dependable, sincere, responsible, understanding, caring, loving, dedicated, individual for the nursing profession.

Nursing is . . .
Getting up at the crack of dawn, and finding your ride has already gone.

Polishing those shoes 'til they're clear and white, but by the end of the day they're a terrible sight.

A world full of bed pans and unmade beds, and bumping the cart
that's filled with meds.

There's so much to remember and so much to do.
It's hard to believe that we're finally through.

It's the best profession, we all agree — but was it really cut out for me?

I wonder . . .

Phi Lambda Chi Becomes

Psi Lambda Chi was founded February 25, 1969, as a local fraternity. Since then the fraternity has grown to 78 members, 23 of whom are currently active members. This year the members decided to revitalize and rejuvenate their fraternity by affiliating themselves with the international fraternity, Lambda Chi Alpha.

On February 28, 1976, the brothers of Psi Lambda Chi were initiated associate members of Lambda Chi Alpha. The formal initiation took place two months later on Sunday, April 25, and it was then that the brothers were installed as a colony of Lambda Chi Alpha. The new colony of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity celebrated with a banquet after the ritual ceremony of initiation. The Gettysburg College chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha conducted the ritual ceremony.

All of Shepherd College congratulates the new brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha and wish them continued success in achieving their goal of obtaining a brotherhood relationship between members.

The First Annual Winter Carnival debuted on a clear, beautiful January weekend. The Carnival started off with a Carnival Buffet in the Dining Hall. Later "Too Many People" gave people Boogie fever at the semi-formal dance. Meanwhile, upstairs in the Student Center other people laughed at Mel Brook's "Blazing Saddles."

Saturday brought on the Las Vegas gambling Casino and an Artic Auction in the afternoon, where everyone spent their "money." At night it was the fantastic Rams-Concord Basketball Game.

The weekend wound up with a day of rest. After some sleep there was a lot of good local talent at a Coffee House in the Pub. All in all everyone admitted it was a fantastic Winter Carnival Weekend.

In just its second year of competition, The Shepherd women's volleyball team collected trophies and wins in clusters en route to an outstanding 22-6 record.

Dr. Glenda Guilliam's charges captured the Concord Invitational, the WVU Invitational, and earned the runner-up spot in state competition. This finish enabled the Lady Rams to qualify for the Midwest Regionals.

Competing at Dayton, Ohio against teams like Purdue, Michigan State, and Cleveland State, the Lady Rams were less than successful as they were eliminated without a win.

The only losses were at the hands of non-conference opponents like Duquesne, Maryland and those teams encountered at the regionals.

Things look promising for next season. The Lady Rams will lose only captain, Gayle Legg, through graduation; and a state championship is definitely in reach. Coach Guilliams attests to that.

FOOTBALL

The arrival of a talented group of recruits and a new assistant coach signaled a drastic turnaround for Shepherd's football program. Coach Walter Barr commented on this group before the season, "This is the greatest group we ever had. They want to play and they have the talent." Did they ever! Eleven freshmen started at one time or another for Shepherd as they paced the Rams to an amazing 8-3 season.

Coach Mark McHale, a standout on the 1972 Rams' championship team, joined Barr's staff late last summer and instilled some of that championship spirit in this past season's squad.

For a team that would win the second highest amount of games in one season in Shepherd's history, the Rams didn't start that impressively. Defending champs, the Fairmont Falcons, visited Shepherd and came away with a 26-7 decision. Our cream of the crop recruits made the usual rookie mistakes by committing numerous turnovers and penalties. Still, the attitude was there. Barr stuck to his guns commenting, "I still believe we have the talent and we're not giving up on anybody."

The Rams proved him right over the next four games. The streak was started by a 28-0 victory over Frostburg in the Civitan Bowl. MVP Rick Kingsbury sparked the Rams' offense with 157 yards passing while Michael Day was the defensive MVP as he made 10 tackles.

Following a 21-14 decision over West Virginia Wesleyan, the Rams defeated perennial powerhouse Randolph Macon 16-14. It was a very satisfying victory and more and more supporters jumped on the Rams' bandwagon.

The taming of the Concord Mountain Lions was the next task at hand. Kingsbury's field goals of 49 and 35 yards was the difference in 20-14 homecoming victory. Madison took advantage of its Astro-turf field and stopped a dramatic Ram drive in the closing second to preserve a 13-7 win.

"This is a great group of kids. I'm proud of the way they're playing," Barr had reason to believe so following a fine defensive effort by his Rams in stifling West Virginia Tech 7-0. The defense did it again with the help of some wet weather as it deflated West Liberty's air machine 24-14.

Shepherd returned home to blast Bluefield 30-8 and won in similar fashion the next week by trouncing Bridgewater 42-13. The stage was set for the showdown with unbeaten division leader, the Salem Tigers.

Dreams of a trip to the Shrine Bowl were shattered as Rams bowed in the season finale 27-0. Still, the Rams were well-deserving owners of an 8-3 record and the runnerup sport in the W.V.I.A.C.'s northern division—a far cry from the previous season's last place 2-9 finish.

Senior mainstays Tony Blaha, Ted Gillette (all-conference guard), Steve Holmes, Dave Kolb and Craig Reichenbach will be missed next season as the Rams, young and talented, will contend for the conference crown.

Basketball

MEN'S BASKETBALL

THE WASHINGTON POST called it "the best you'll find in the country." SPORTS ILLUSTRATED acknowledged its outstanding record. Fans packed field houses and gyms to see it. Everyone everywhere had something to say about our Rams' basketball team. Under coach Bob Starkey, who finished third in the West Virginia coaches balloting, the 1975-76 edition of this "power-house of the Panhandle" finished 33-3, the most victories by any college this past season.

The Rams improved their record for the eighth straight year on their way to a tenth place ranking by the Associated Press. The NAIA felt a little different as it ranked the Rams seventh in its listing of the nation's top teams.

In winning 20 or more games for the fourth consecutive season, the Rams finished second in the W.V.I.A.C. behind the nation's numero uno, Fairmont State. It was the third straight runnerup spot for the Rams, who broke 19 Shepherd basketball records during its most recent campaign.

Our Rams were the champions of the NCAA's Division Three South Atlantic Region. This enabled them to pursue the Division Three title. They were beaten, however, by the eventual winner, Scranton University. Consider then, the Rams' three losses came against the two top small college powers.

The cagers, who ranked near the top of college listings in offense and winning margin, won enough tournament gold to start their own Fort Knox. First came the blitzing of Waterloo, the Canadian national champs and then the Rams topped Wilfred-Laurier University to win the Canadian invitational tourney.

The next stop for Shepherd's trophy trail was the Winchester Civitan Classic. The Rams nipped Mansfield 90-88 on Rodney Sewell's jumper at the final buzzer. Sewell, a member of Shepherd's 2000 point club, was named Civitan MVP. The Rams only played "so-so basketball" according to Starkey, but they still prevailed over Virginia Union to defend their Civitan title.

Shepherd also recaptured its own invitational by outclassing Washington College and Salem at the Martinsburg field house.

It was about this time the Rams began to gain national recognition. The Rams moved to 12th in the NAIA poll after beating Wheeling for their 20th victory.

The nation's leading scorer, Archie Talley, and the Salem Tigers were no match for the Rams despite 45 points by Talley. The four-game road trip included a showdown with arch rival, Fairmont State. Joe Retton's Falcons extended their jinx over Shepherd as they won 93-86. The Rams didn't let the loss derail them as they defeated Bluefield and returned home with a 23-1 record and a seventh place ranking in the NAIA.

Closing out their regular season with wins over D&E and Strayer, the Rams prepared for the conference tourney. A cold epidemic didn't prevent them from taking victories in the preliminary rounds from West Liberty, Alderson-Broadus and Concord. Guess who waited ahead in the final? None other than Fairmont, which successfully defended its conference crown. Sewell, the second-leading scorer in the conference, and Mike Philippi, the Rams' top assists man, were named to the all-tourney team.

The great season was far from over as the Rams traveled to New Jersey to capture a regional championship by defeating host Monmouth College 79-71. Powerful Scranton ended the season for Shepherd by winning on its home court.

Only better things lie ahead for our fantastic Rams. We'll miss super seniors Larry Boomer and Chip Reklis, who played vital parts in the best season ever known to Shepherd College.

Having to fill several starting positions, the women's basketball squad was hurt by inexperience in a season of ups and downs.

A record-breaking performance by Mindy Barrons was among the high points of the Lady Rams' season. Her 32-point outburst paced the women to an impressive decision over George Mason University. Other high spots included wins over Frostburg and Wesleyan.

With only senior Sue Davis departing via graduation, the lady cagers are looking for better things in the future.

THE RECORD BREAKERS. That's what the women's swimming team was made of. The Lady Rams, en route to a 6-2 season, shattered well over a dozen of Shepherd women's swim records.

Most prominent among these record smashers was Kim Davis. The speedy sophomore rewrote the Shepherd records in the medley, freestyle and breaststroke events and her performance in the W.V.I.A.C. meet qualified her for a berth in the NAIA regionals.

In the state meet, coach Nancy Elkins' aquatic lasses finished second. The ladies did "a magnificent job . . . all that could be expected" according to Elkins.

And like most of Shepherd's women's teams, the prospects only look more promising, as the roster is filled with prep swimmers. Seniors Carol Baker, Sue Estep and Nancy Papola will surely be missed, but future teams should keep the reputation as record breakers.

The Shepherd tankmen were successful in their own right. Besides impressive victories over St. Mary's, Western Maryland and Howard University, the Ram swimmers broke numerous records on the way to a berth in the W.V.I.A.C. tourney at West Virginia University.

Senior Jerry Rhodes, a co-captain with Pete McCloskey, was the team's leading scorer and record breaker. Event marks owned by Rhodes include the 200-yard free style medley, the 200-yard individual medley and the 500-yard freestyle. Showing his versatility as a distance swimmer, Jerry also held the old mark in the 1000-yard medley.

The new mark is held by McCloskey. He also set new Shepherd records in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle events. Coach Erwin Fieger expects Pete "really improved" next season and indicates McCloskey may set new marks by the score.

The Rams were far from a two-man team, however, as they were dependent upon performers like Jim Jones. Jim provided excellent showings in all diving events and is a "real competitor" according to Fieger.

Jeff Sager did his thing in the 200-yard backstroke and was a member of the Rams' 400-yard relay team. Senior Neil Laggan provided depth in the 500-yard freestyle while the other senior member of the team, Dean Koontz, anchored Shepherd's strong relay quartet.

These seniors, along with Rhodes will be sorely missed next season. Fieger commented, "these guys were dedicated and that's what you need to be successful in anything you do." With a little more of this dedication and desire, Shepherd's aquatic athletes should be in the thick of things next year in the W.V.I.A.C.

Youth, inexperience and a lack of depth were the main problems that plagued the Lady Rams' tennis team. Coach Elkins' top seed, Carol Baker was the only senior member of this youthful squad.

Patty Hedges and Cindy Gano provided some other bright spots with their competitive play against top notch teams like Frostburg State, University of Maryland and Shippensburg State. The other members of the team, being mostly freshmen and sophomores, lacked extensive experience, but held their own.

With a few more matches, these prep players could gain that much-needed experience. And with all but one member returning next season, these lasses of the lob will more than likely develop into a premiere team in the next season or two as they compete in a Maryland-Pennsylvania conference.

Playing fall tennis for the first time in Shepherd sports history, coach Roger Parker's netmen didn't gain a victory, but they did gain some advantageous experience. The Ram netters found the going rough against teams like WVU, Madison College and Towson State.

The spring season saw the Rams take advantage of the fall competition as they handled their conference opponents, but had their hands full with teams like California of Pennsylvania and Catholic University.

Parker feels a few more matches will help season his young team and its top seeds, Kurt Brown and Stock Wright. Gone via graduation will be fourth seed Dan Neff, sixth seed Jeff Harris and Bret Decker.

The Ram track team showed promise and potential as it finished its first season under head mentor Mark McHale. The Rams closed out their season with a 101-44 romp over Loyola following victories over Eastern Mennonite and D&E. "The guys really worked hard and deserve a lot of credit."

Many individuals qualified for the W.V.I.A.C. meet in Charleston including Tim Smith, who broke his own school record in the high hurdles. Outstanding seniors Jeff Carr (880), George Kitson (high jump), Gene Ridenour and Eric Crum also qualified for the state meet.

The Rams' golf team enjoyed a fairly successful season that was capped off by participation in the W.V.I.A.C. tourney held in Cacapon State Park.

Following a one-stroke loss in their opener, the Ram linksmen bounced back with victories over York and Frostburg. In the Frostburg meet, Gary Stefaniga provided the high point of the year as he earned top medalist honors with an accurate score of 71.

Coach Ed Fincham cited the play of his golfers as "improved and outstanding." But even better things lie ahead for our Rams.

Not unlike the other teams at Shepherd, the link men are mainly composed of underclassmen and they will be losing but one senior. Jack Hemphill will depart with a sheepskin, but the nucleus for a Shepherd powerhouse remains in the form of Stefaniga, Scott McCauley, Joe Zaleski, Bert Iseminger and Steve Bannister.

The improved play of returnees David Gray and Steve Roth will also enhance the Rams' chances for a conference title.

BASEBALL

The Ram baseball team, composed mainly of underclassmen, went through its worst campaign in recent years. According to coaches Jesse Riggleman and Branson Brown, "the boys just couldn't put their hitting, fielding and pitching together long enough for one or two good games."

The definite highlight of the Shepherd season was Doug Huffer's 1-0 shutout of University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown. The sophomore lefty's two hitter was won by a George Inscore double.

The Rams will lose four seniors: outfielders Larry Laing and Bill Fourham, plus infielders Inscore and Moe Kuhn. These players contributed "a lot of hustle and desire" to the Rams' efforts, according to Riggleman.

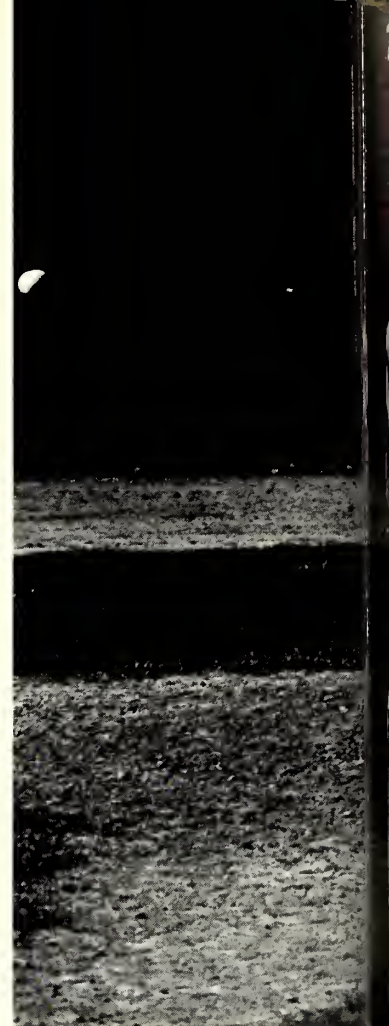

Like most other Shepherd sports, the nucleus of this team being a host of young players. Most of them will fill the battery and infield spots. With the loss of Laing and Fourham, the outfield positions may be the hardest to fill.

Top returnees include catcher Doug Higgins, who Brown has labeled as "a definite pro prospect who can hit well and has all the tools to make it." Higgins provided most of the Rams' offense with his extra base hits including a mammoth home run against Oneonta that landed on top of Shaw Hall.

Pitching should be in the dependable hands of Huffer, Mark Sager and Marc Arvon. Each one has the potential to become a consistent winner for the Gold and Blue.

Handling the infield chores will be the slick keystone duo of Larry See and Chapman Slye. These two are the Rams' best all around threats as Riggleman attests that both can "beat you with their bats, gloves and speed." The corner spots will be settled among many contenders as will the open outfield positions.

Next season should see a definite change of fortune for Riggleman's Rams.

WE DID IT OUR WAY

—Steve Di Giulian — John Porasky — 1976 —

Weird is it not? Shot behind Boteler Hall exam night. Film Double-X, ASA 250, f8 60 sec. exposure. If this isn't a snub at typical group shots then I don't know what is.

The 1976 yearbook's photography was completely shot, developed, printed, and edited by the photography staff. The overall objective of this effort was to accomplish the impossible . . . do more work with less money. The photos on these pages represent 1600 man hours in just developing, printing, and editing. These hours do not include the actual picture taking. We work for no money. Most of us have invested over $300 worth of equipment, used with no compensation for wear and tear.

This is not written to sing our glories but to show that with a little effort advances can be made. We made mistakes this year — we know it — but they have been a Hell of a lot less than last year (1975).

Special Thanks To Mark Smith and Dave Newlin!

This is what is known as the Editor's Page. Here is where the Editor gets to thank everyone (and bore the reader to death), and/or let off steam. So keeping that tradition in mind, I'd like to give special thanks to two fantastic ladies. First, Betsy Mathews, who did a great job and gave her support thru a lot of dark hours during the "Greek problem." Thanks and a deep love goes to Anna Blanchfield for working her tail off and helping to keep me laughing. Lest I forget, thanks also to Mark Smith.

I promised you a lot of things about this yearbook and I think I have managed to keep all of them. I sincerely hope you like the book, and if you don't — that's too bad. The only people who really have the right to criticize the book are the staff members. I saw 8 people work and fight to make a good yearbook for over 2,000 other kids. They never got any thanks and often they got a lot of hassles from people outside the staff. I frankly think they are great people. They did a damn good job, and I'm proud to have been able to work with them.

But I've bored you enough. One last thing I have to say before I close. A special thanks and love to the man who stood by me through it all; who gave me strength when I thought I couldn't fight any more; who held me when I cried; and who shared my laughter. I don't need to name him, he knows who he is, and my friends know too.

As Always,
